Overview of the Housing Production Plan (HPP) Process and Regional Perspective

Community Breakout Groups

Return to main session – Summary and Adjourn

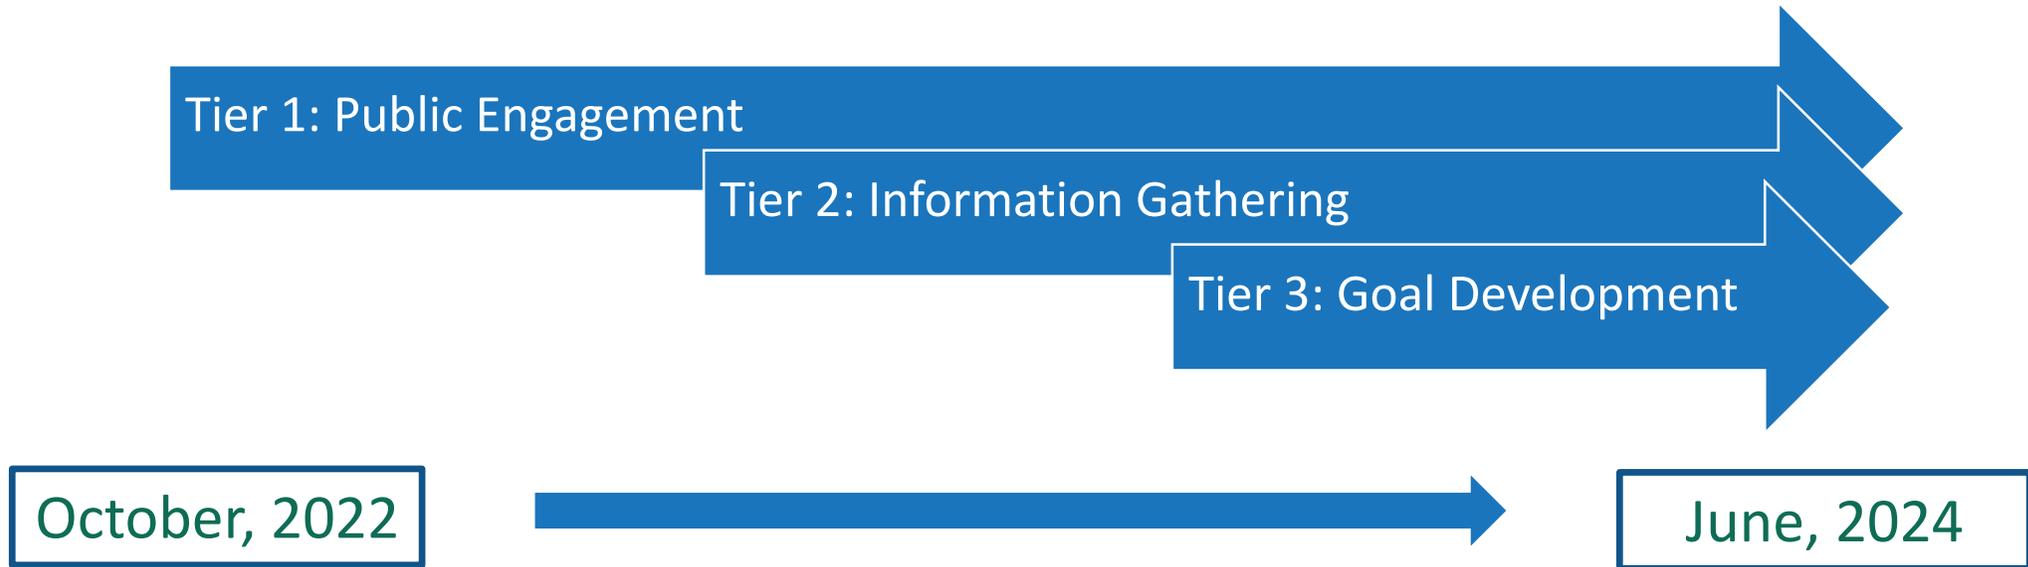

What is a Housing Production Plan (HPP)?

- HPPs allow communities to articulate their vision for housing production in a comprehensive plan and identify community specific strategies to achieve said goals
- HPPs are a statutory requirement to be used as a tool to grant communities further control over 40B development
- HPPs help communities achieve the state requirement of at least 10% of their housing stock qualifying to be listed on the Subsidized Housing Inventory (SHI)

The Process

Housing Production Plan Process

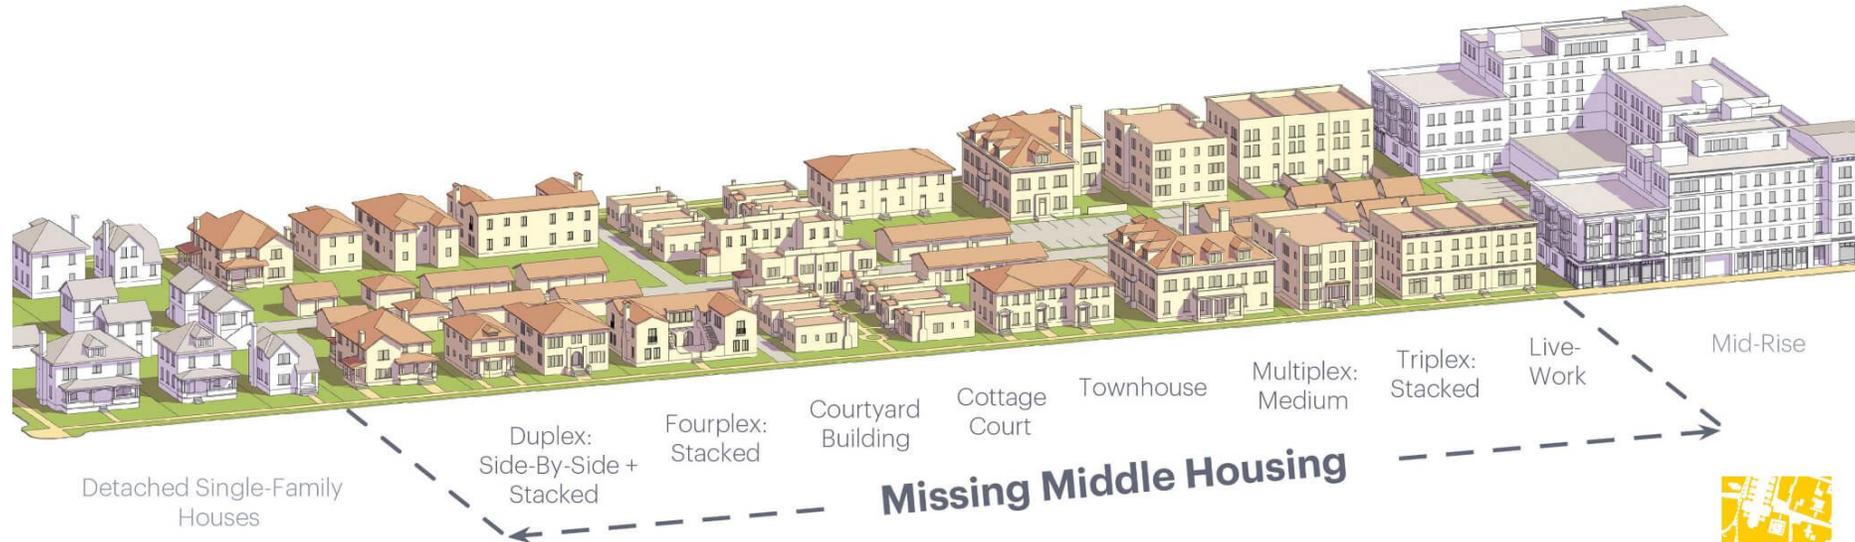

Why is there a housing shortage?

- Between 1960 and 1990, Massachusetts communities permitted almost 900,000 housing units. Since 1990, communities have permitted fewer than 470,000 new units.
- There is an estimated shortage of 200,000 housing units in the state

Regional Housing Needs

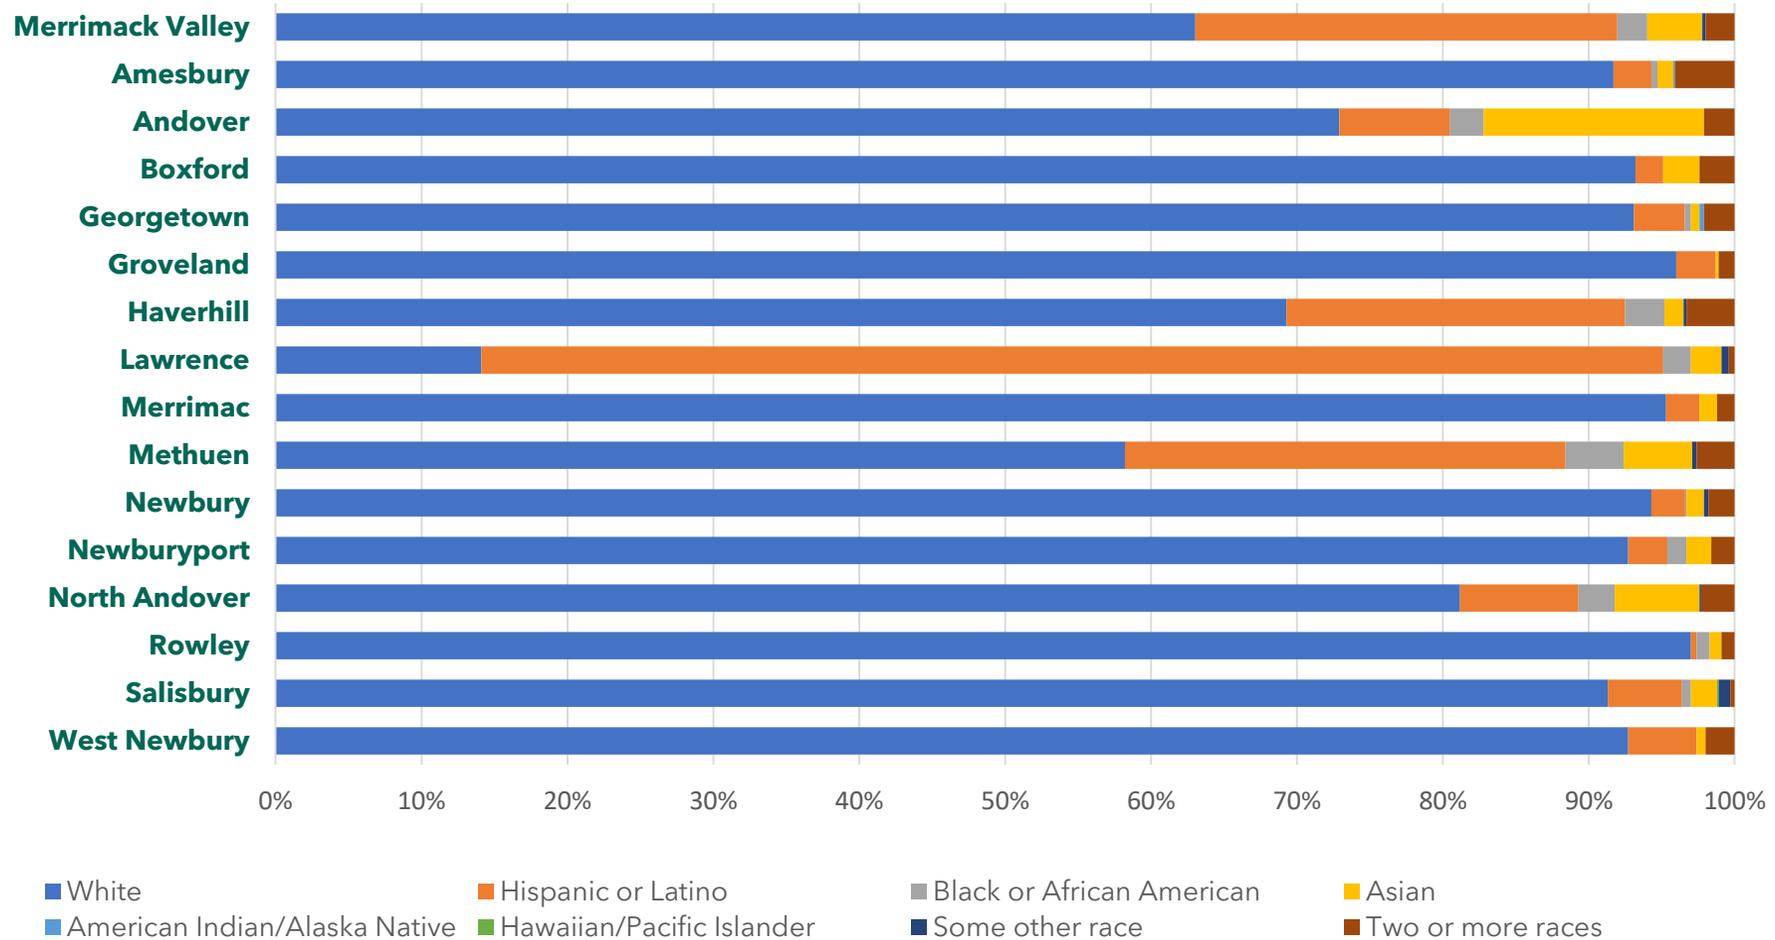

Why A Regional Approach?

- Allows us to gather region-wide information on the housing landscape to make informed decisions about appropriate, impactful housing development across municipalities
- Housing precarity does not exist in a vacuum in any one municipality, and having this regional approach helps us problem-solve across cities and towns
- Allows us to take advantage of economies of scale in terms of data collection and analysis, goal development, and assembly of the final plans

“Severely cost burdened” means a household pays more than 50% of their gross income towards housing

Regional Housing Work

- Many of our Merrimack Valley communities have been undergoing Master Plan updates, Hazard Mitigation Plan updates, and other community-wide plans to guide ongoing growth and change
- Most recently on the regional scale, MVPC worked with a breadth of stakeholders throughout the Valley to develop the next 5-year Comprehensive Economic Development Strategy (CEDS)

Planning Context – Where are we now?

Over the past 5 years, our housing environment has changed:

- COVID-19
- Each of our communities experienced expected population increase
- Passing and implementation of Section 3A (MBTA Communities)
- Increased awareness of impact of housing costs on economic status

Planning and Implementation Considerations

Administrative Capacity

Infrastructure Capacity

Town Meeting Approval Process

Policy Mechanisms – What tools are available?

Planning and Policies

- Inclusionary zoning
- Accessory Dwelling Unit (ADU) bylaws
- Creation of Affordable Housing Trust
- Zoning amendment to allow for specific housing types by-right

Production and Preservation

- Develop incentives for developers (i.e. waive permit fees, expedite permitting, density bonuses)
- Explore use of Historic Tax Credits
- Explore use of publicly-owned land for housing
- Retrofitting existing structures for housing (i.e. single to multi-family conversion, historic conversion)

Breakout Sessions

Next Steps

MVPC to incorporate public input into housing strategy lists

In-person, public meetings for each community throughout the winter to review finalized strategy lists

Ongoing housing conversation in your community – MBTA Communities, zoning changes, introduction of new ordinances/bylaws

Thank you!
